1. Prior to 31 January 1952, the Artillerie Kaserne on August Bebelstrasse, Frankfurt/Oder (O 53/J 63), was occupied by about 800 troops who wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. About 180 soldiers were engaged in rifle drill in the billeting area on 24 January. Twelve artillery pieces were parked at the north side of the barracks installation. About 20 soldiers received training with two AA guns. Six trucks towing four 76.2-mm guns and a generator set were observed near the railroad bridge across the Oder River on 27 January. They moved toward the city and were afterwards identified in the Artillerie Kaserne. One of the trucks was loaded with tables, chairs and iron stoves. One captain, 1 lieutenant and about 50 EM were seen with the vehicles. Trucks each of them occupied by 15 to 20 soldiers armed with rifles and submachine guns, were observed entering the barracks installation from the direction of Rosengarten. About 150 soldiers trained with rifles and submachine guns at the barracks yard on 31 January under the supervision of 11 officers. About 40 soldiers practiced with four of the artillery pieces which were parked at the north side of the barracks installation. Motor vehicles observed entering the installation.
2. Prior to 30 January, the Buelow Kaserne on Fuerstenwalderstrasse, Poststrasse and Schillerstrasse was occupied by about 600 troops who wore red-bordered black epaulets with tank and artillery insignia. Twenty-two canvas-covered AA guns were seen there on 24 January. Twenty soldiers were observed training in firing, and 10 officers with map cases were seen entering the barracks installation from the direction of Rosengarten. Sedan occupied by two senior officers, entered the installation and left it after a short time. Trucks were parked in the billeting area.
3. Prior to 31 January, the northeastern section of the Eichhorn Kaserne on Muellroser Landstrasse was occupied by only a few soldiers who wore black-bordered crimson epaulets. Some women were also seen there. The southwestern section was occupied by about 400 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. About 100 soldiers received rifle drill at squad level, while about

- (1) The report confirms previous conclusions regarding the identity of the units carried in the barracks installations at the Frankfurt/Oder military post. [redacted] Only the identity of the [redacted] units in the Ziethen Kaserne has not been fully determined. The presence of 152-mm artillery pieces at the Ziethen Kaserne is indicative of the unidentified guards howitzer artillery regiment of the 7th Gds Mecz Div, but the unit with tanks and tank insignia remains unidentified. The tank troops possibly are only the personnel operating the tank repair shop of the crews of tanks under repair, but it is also possible that the troops belong to the tank battalion of the 24th Gds Mecz Regt of the 7th Gds Mecz Div which is carried in Fuerstenwalde. [redacted]

[redacted] There is a possibility that, contrary to the T/E determined in World War II, the 122-mm field howitzers of the tank and mechanized divisions were at least partly replaced by 152-mm field howitzers. [redacted]

- (2) [redacted] Three rocket launchers in the Hofmann Kaserne in the spring of 1951 [redacted] were probably under repair. The rocket launcher mentioned in the present report belongs to the 7th Gds Mecz Div.
